Love Marriage & Family

Erkki Koskenniemi

Key Selling Points:

CPH Item No.: 124720

Summary

Family planning, sexual relationships, divorce, and remarriage. These are issues that modern Christians navigate within society; they also happen to be issues that the earliest Christians faced.

The Rev. Dr. Erkki Koskenniemi dives into the New Testament world of Christians in non-Christian cultures, showing how early believers were most obviously different from their Gentile neighbors in matters of family and sexuality. He encourages readers to hold fast to biblical truth like the Christians before them, even when they are the odd ones out in society.

Koskenniemi explores the historical context of Christian sexual morality in easily understandable terms. New Testament-era documents and earlier Jewish texts paint a picture of how Christians have persevered amid secular and pagan neighbors. The countercultural morals of Christianity are built upon thousands of years of similar struggles by Jews in Gentile areas, from Joseph fleeing Potiphar's wife in the book of Genesis to the prophet Mal...

Wrestling with God
Understanding Difficult Old Testament Passages
 R. Reed Lessing, Andrew E. Steinmann

Key Selling Points:

CPH Item No.: 124711

Summary

The Old Testament has a reputation for being confusing, outdated, or irrelevant. Modern readers have lots of uncomfortable questions: Was the universe really created in six days? Do Christians have to follow Israelite laws? Does God change His mind?

Wrestling with God encourages Christians to tackle these difficult topics and more to get a clearer picture of who God really is. The Rev. Dr. R. Reed Lessing and the Rev. Dr. Andrew E. Steinmann explore ten topics including Creation, laws, and prophecy and help readers embrace-rather than dismiss-the Old Testament.

Modern Christians are separated from the Old Testament by time, culture, and language. Lessing and Steinmann bridge these gaps and study things like the sexual laws in Leviticus 18, God's mandates for violence against the Canaanites in the book of Joshua, and the true meaning of prophecies in Ezekiel 37-48. Amid it all, the authors point the reader to Jesus, the promised Savior and "most complete revelation of God."
